THE LEADERS

Fashion and the Corset

THE dominant idea in dress is the ideal unrestricted figure, bringing to women a freedom of dress in loosely hung garments, graceful and pleasing beyond degree. The demand for the natural figure effect is even more insistent than in the previous season.

The figure must be supple, yielding and in no wise restricted. To secure the natural figure effect and assume the new pose, it is quite necessary that the corset should be exceedingly supple to allow the form to yield gently and gracefully.

That Justrite corsets are in keeping with the latest ideas in dress is assured, for the advance fashion tendencies are most carefully observed in the fashion centers, here and abroad.

The Justrite creations are dainty and most pleasing to those who insist upon the best in corsets.

The new Justrite models with the broad waist, straight back and hip lines, with very few and supple bones, are in strict accord with the season's demands.

It is preferable to wear a Justrite with ideal lines and figure moulding qualities than a corset made to your own measurement.

Justrites are fashioned and fitted over living models with ideal figure lines.

When you wear a Justrite your
lines as the corset which has been thus fitted.

The various models in Justrite corsets allow for correct corseting of the stout and medium stout
and graceful poise as the average and more slender figure.

Romance of Hanover Hospital.

The theme of southern girls loving northern invaders, and of northern girls loving southern invaders, has been used in many works of fiction with great success, but more romantic and glowing than any imaginative tale is the actual, double romance of the war hospital at Hanover. A skirmish was fought at the town of Hanover three days before the great battle of Gettysburg. The wounded were put in a hospital in the town. There this two-fold romance began, and continued during the crisis which hung over the nation.

The story, with the cavalry fight in the streets, the coming of the two sisters of the romance, adventures, and the large contribution of events is a factual and exciting tale. The interests which people in this section will feel, however, will be rather from the fact that "these" surroundings are the scene of the story. Both factors will be enjoyed and appreciated.

This "Romance of Hanover Hospital" is one of the noteworthy series of Pennsylvania romances, which the Sunday North American is publishing each week. Touching each section of the State from time to time, this sequence of exciting and charming stories, taken from real life, runs as a list of fine short stories, and is being enjoyed all over the commonwealth for its literary quality as well as for its revelations of local interest.

VANCE C. M'CORMICK, PROGRESSIVE FARMER

Activities of Democratic Candidate For Governor in Promoting Improved Methods of Agriculture.

Vance Criswell McCormick, a leader in the movement which resulted in the reorganization and regeneration of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania, and now a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of the state, is a farmer from taste, education and inheritance, as well as a newspaper publisher, a business man and a banker.

He is, as was said by Mr. Berry in his speech at Blossburg, on Thursday, March 19, a son of the soil, of the rich fertile lands of the Cumberland Valley, where his ancestors, emigrants from Europe, settled when it was a wilderness, cleared it of its forests and made it, like the Promised Land of old, to flow with milk and honey.

There is not in the state of Pennsylvania a farmer more progressive and enterprising than he, nor one who has done more to advance the interests of the farmers of the state and to improve farm methods and the breeds of farm stock of all kinds.

Owing to the death of his father when he was still a very young man, Mr. McCormick at once took his place among men of large responsibilities. A part of these responsibilities consisted in the management of extensive agricultural interests in the Cumberland Valley, where his forefathers settled two centuries ago. He at once showed his enterprise and interest in farming by liberal expenditures for the improvement of farm stock, especially heavy work horses.

He imported at large expense splendid specimens of blood Percherons, and gave the service of these animals to the neighboring farmers at a merely nominal charge, so that by crossing with their grade mares, pronounced improvement was observable within a few years.

To further interest the farmers in the improvement of their stock and to stimulate enterprise and friendly competition, Mr. McCormick in the spring of 1905 established in a beautiful piece of woods belonging to his family near Hogestown, Cumberland county, a one-day open-air show of horses and cattle, including mules, sheep and hogs.

The first show was held on Thursday, June 15, 1905, and was very creditable. The farmers for miles around entered their best animals, numbering in all something like one hundred horses and nearly as many cows and bulls and a few sheep and hogs.

To make the competition exclusively educational the prizes offered had no intrinsic value. They were blue, red and yellow rosettes—blue for the first prize, red for the second and yellow for the third.

Every sort of catch-penny device was rigidly excluded from the grounds. A small admission fee has been charged to all except exhibitors and their families, rather to keep out objectionable visitors than for revenue, but though when the weather was favorable the shows were attended by thousands, the gate money has never come anywhere near paying the cost of the shows, the difference being made up by subscription.

The show was designed primarily for farmers living in the eastern part of Cumberland county, and no entries except for registered stock were accepted from any other place. The first show was so successful that it was determined to hold one every year, and this has been done from that time to this. The shows are always held in June, generally in the first or second week, before haying time, so that the farmers can attend without neglecting their work at home.

In order that the judging might be of such a character that the justice of it should be beyond question, the management has every year brought to the grounds in Big Head woods the most accomplished experts in cattle and horses and other live stock to be found in the eastern states. They came from Cornell University, from the University of Pennsylvania, from the Pennsylvania State college, from Delaware College Experiment Station, from the famous Shadeland stock farm and from the veterinary department of the Pennsylvania state government.

Soon the farmers were invited to add to their exhibits poultry, eggs, dairy products and fancy stock. At these shows have been exhibited splendid specimens of registered heavy draft animals, of various breeds of road horses, medium and light draft horses and the choicest breeds of cattle, including Gurnseys, Jerseys, Holsteins, Ayrshire and Durhams and of Herefords especially valued as beefs; likewise pens of the most approved breeds of sheep and swine and all kinds of farm live stock.

Those farmers who had not done so before soon came to appreciate the fact that it cost no more to keep a good cow or a good horse than a poor one, and now throughout the eastern part of the Cumberland Valley there are many splendid herds of registered and grade Gurnseys, Jerseys and Jerseys, where ten years ago there were very few, and the improvement that has resulted has been pronounced nothing less than marvelous by the experts who have attended these shows from year to year.

The interest of Mr. McCormick has never flagged. He has never permitted anything to interfere with his attendance. Five years ago the shows had grown to such proportions that it was found impossible—even with a corps of eight or ten judges—to do all the judging in one day. Since then the shows have been held during two days. The shows have been held without regard to the weather, and the Cumberland Valley farmers have shown such an interest in them that a steady downpour of rain, a whole day long, has never kept them away.

In the illustration accompanying this article is shown a group of boys, ranging in age from fifteen to twenty-one years, judging cows immediately after they had had an illustrated lecture on the way to do it by Professor Harry Hayward, of Delaware college, at the show last June. Such instructions have been given every year recently in the judging of cows by Professor Hayward, by Professor Wing, of Cornell, and Professors VanNorman and Cochel, formerly of Pennsylvania State college, and in judging horses by Dr. Carl W. Gay, of the University of Pennsylvania, director of the horse breeding division of the state live stock sanitary board, and other experts.

Another very valuable educational agency employed at the exhibitions consists of lectures by experts on horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry during the noon interval, when the judging of stock and other exhibits is suspended for dinner. These lectures are given on a raised platform and a live animal is used to illustrate the points made by the lecturers. These lectures emphasize the good and the bad points of the animals. A lecture on butter-making always accompanies the judging of the butter exhibits.

In arranging and in conducting these annual spring live stock shows the founder has had the enthusiastic, intelligent and energetic support and co-operation of his neighbors, the farmers of Cumberland county, who have composed the general committee and other sub-committees.

Mr. McCormick has also effectively shown his appreciation of the farming interests of Pennsylvania and his intelligent desire to improve them, by his service as a member of the executive committee of the board of trustees of Pennsylvania State college. He has been always an enthusiastic advocate of its enlargement, especially the school of agriculture, so as to meet the ever-increasing demands upon its facilities by the young men of the state who want to go there to learn scientific methods of agriculture. He has also worked persistently in behalf of liberal appropriations to carry on the extension work of the school of agriculture, whereby practical instruction in farming and household economics is carried to every agricultural county in the state, to thousands of farmers and farmer boys and girls who could not possibly go to State college.

This has been done by demonstration trains run by the great railroad companies, accompanied by instructors from the School of Agriculture; by instruction at all the normal schools in the state during certain periods of the year; by lectures and demonstrations at county fairs; by correspondence and in other practical ways, whereby knowledge of improved methods of fertilizing and seeding and of all the details of farm work, including butter making, have been received by tens of thousands of those especially interested, resulting in marked improvement along these lines.

Railroads Encourage Temperance.

The temperance campaign being waged by the Northern Central railway, among its employees, shows good results for the past year and the report of the entire Pennsylvania railroad system just issued is most interesting.

Daily and weekly bulletins are posted showing the work done along this line on other roads. Instead of threats of severe punishment for violations of rules regarding the prohibition of liquor, the company is showing the enormous results from the use of intelligent temperance.

A recent announcement was made that in the spring of 1913 only 155 cases of intoxication were found among the employees. It requires a close watch to detect men who indulge in intoxicating drinks to such an extent as to interfere with the duties or to bring harm to the welfare of his employees.

The company has a strict rule, which is rigidly enforced. During the whole of last year only 155 men were found to have broken the rule, according to a report just made.

The use of intoxicants by employees while on duty is prohibited, under the order. Their habitual use, or the frequenting of places where they are sold in sufficient cause for dismissal.

In a statement issued the company gave the information that 754,675 observations were made during 1913 as to the use of intoxicants by employees, and that in only 155 cases was discipline required. Thus only one man in about 4,868 employed by the system was guilty of a lapse under the no-drink rule.

The section track laborer is held to a strict accountability to the no-drink rule, even as the locomotive engineer, fireman, conductor and trainman. Also the prohibition applies to the division superintendent himself, and should he be caught violating the rule a summons before his superior officers would quickly flash over the wires.

In every way the Pennsylvania railroad management is seeking not only to enforce the rule, but to free the employees from temptations to break it. In the company, a few years ago, a system of paying by piece work was in vogue, and it was found that to get the maximum amount of work sometimes men would drink. All wages are now paid by time.

Addition to Parcel Post.

Printed books now go by parcel post. Catalogues and paper bound volumes are included in the classification. Books weighing eight ounces or less will retain the present third-class rate of 2 cents for each ounce or fraction of an ounce. When the book or package of books weighs more than eight ounces the parcel post rates for the various zones apply.

Extension of the parcel post rates to seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and various kinds of plants is also now effective.

An order has gone out permitting a letter to be attached to a Parcel Post package, when both bear their respective rates of postage; the letter must not be inclosed with the package, but tied, or otherwise attached, outside. This is intended to cover cases in which it is important that a letter of instructions should accompany a package.

Postmaster General Burleson has approved an amendment to the parcel post regulations, under which butter, eggs, fruit, vegetables, poultry and other articles in parcels weighing from 20 to 50 pounds may be shipped in the first and second zones in boxes and crates similar to those handled by express companies. The amendment provides that parcels weighing 20 pounds or less will be handled as before, and must be securely packed in "gunnysacks" or in bags wrapped in bags with other matter.

Ten cities have been selected for experimental encouragement of the parcel post between farmers and the consumers, directing the postmasters in the ten cities to receive the names of persons who are willing to supply farm produce in retail quantities by parcel post. Printed lists of these names, showing kind and quantity of commodity available, will be distributed among town and city patrons.

By the use of the lists, the city consumer will be able to get in touch with a farmer who will find his weekly orders for butter and eggs and other farm produce. The consumer will receive the produce fresh from the country, and the personal relationship established will no doubt tend to improve the quality. The farmer will be relieved of carrying his produce to market, as the rural carrier will make daily collections at the farmer's own door of these retail shipments to city consumers.

The point has been raised that difficulty will be experienced in the return of hampers and other containers. This problem will not be difficult of solution. The farmer may use inexpensive hampers, the value of which would not warrant return, or he may use the higher grade hampers, for which he may receive an additional charge, to be credited to the consumer upon the return of the hamper by parcel post.

Locating and curing the lungs never varied Nasal Catarrh. Small and taste are restored, breathing is made normal. Until you try this remedy, you can form no idea of the good it will do you. Is applied directly to the sore spot. All druggists, 50c. DEATH OF MELVILLE E. DOLL

HE WAS PRESIDENT OF THE SAVINGS BANK OF FREDERICK

He Learned Printing Trade During War in Compiler Office Under Henry J. Stahle.

MELVILLE E. DOLL, president of the Frederick Town Savings Institution, died on Tuesday from pneumonia in his 77th year. He was a native of Frederick county, his parents being among the early settlers of that section.

Henry J. Stahle, editor and proprietor of the GETTYSBURG COMPILER for a half century married a sister of Mr. Doll, and during the Civil War period Mr. Doll came to Gettysburg and learned the printing trade in the Compiler Office under the late Henry J. Stahle. He was working in the office when the battle of Gettysburg was fought and he delighted to tell of those days when the work of printing a paper was largely done laboriously by hand. He would recall many of the scenes of the fight and the strenuous days following the battle, when the proprietor of the Compiler had been carried off by the Union Army and was held for a period of about three weeks before released, and the work that fell upon T. J. Stahle and himself to get out the paper.

In 1866 Mr. Doll formed a partnership with his brother, the late Joseph Doll and engaged in the dry goods business in Frederick. Ten years later he took up the real estate and insurance business and continued in same until the death of his partner, in 1901. In 1896 Mr. Doll was elected president of the Frederick Town Savings Institution and devoted his attention exclusively to banking. He married Miss Hannah M. Danner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joel B. Danner of Gettysburg in 1867. She died about one year ago. There are no surviving children. He leaves one brother, Samuel Doll of Frederick and a number of nephews and nieces.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stahle and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Butt of this place.

JACOB PATTERSON died at the home of Mrs. Geiselman, East Middle St., on April 4, aged 64 years and 22 days. Death was due to paralysis. Mr. Patterson had been a contractor for about forty years, enjoying the confidence and respect of all who knew him. He leaves one son and two daughters, Frank Patterson and Mrs. Harry Geiselman of Gettysburg, and Mrs. Ella Bryan of Wilmington, Del. He also leaves one step-daughter, Mrs. Frank Decker of Gettysburg, and one step-son, Robert H. Gerlach, of Pittsburgh. He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Trostle of Mt. Joy township, Mrs. Sara Sachs of Waynesboro, Mrs. Louisa Diehl of Arundel, Mrs. Louisa Keckler of Gettysburg, and three brothers, William Patterson of Cumberland township, Henry Patterson of Mt. Joy township, and John Patterson of South Dakota. The funeral was held last Tuesday with interment in the Evergreen Cemetery.

MISS MATTIE DICKS died at the family home along the Conewago Creek in Reading township on last Friday night. She was widely known and had many friends throughout the county. The funeral was held on Monday. She is survived by five brothers and one sister, Associate Judge W. Howard Dicks, John Dicks and Miss Kate Dicks, who live on the home place in Reading township. Homes Dicks of near Round Hill in same township, Neely Dicks of New Oxford, and Robert Dicks living in the West.

MISS BRUCE MARING of Mt. Joy township, near Harney, died April 2, in the Keystone Hospital at Harrisburg, after an operation, aged about 26 years. She leaves her father, Jonas Maring, two brothers, William Maring and Oliver Maring, both of Cumberland township, and four sisters, Mrs. Harry Shryock and Mrs. Emory Plank of Gettysburg; Mrs. Harry Wolf of near White Church, and Mrs. Charles Startz of Mt. Joy township. The funeral was held on Monday, services by Rev. E. Stockslager, with interment at Mt. Joy Church graveyard.

LEVI SHINDLEDECKER, a well known resident of Edgemont, died Wednesday of last week in his 75th year. Mr. Shindledecker was born in Adams county, the son of Jacob Shindledecker. He became a shingle-maker by trade and worked at this for a long time in Fairfield. For two years he resided at Reuzerville and April 1, 1910, he removed to Edgemont. Shortly before his death he said to his wife: "You'll have two troubles about April 1. One is the moving; the other a funeral." He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Harriet Himes of Frederick county, Md. His second wife, who survives him, was Miss Barbara A. Hoover, of near Reuzerville. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Frank Kroede and Mrs. David Krebs, both of Hanover. He is survived by three brothers, Hiram Shindledecker, of Wayne Heights, Madison Shindledecker, of Fairfield, and Albert Shindledecker of Glendale, Illinois. Of the nine children of Jacob Shindledecker, six have died in the last four years. Funeral last Friday, services by Rev. J. N. Payer, interment in Waynesboro Cemetery.

During the funeral a neighbor's horse caught fire and 25 men attending funeral went to fire, formed a bucket brigade and succeeded in extinguishing the blaze.

HENRY P. MILLER of Mechanicsburg died suddenly on March 17 while seated in a buggy. He had been to his physician, who had assured him he was better than for some days and his son was driving him toward his home when he expired. He leaves a wife and one son, Edmund of Mechanicsburg. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Maria Miller of Biglerville, who is in her 86th year, and three brothers, Warren Miller of Biglerville, Jacob H. Miller of Steelton, and Rev. Wm. Miller of Wrightsville.

JACOB ZIMMERMAN died at Lehigh on last Sunday in his 81st year. He was a veteran of the Civil War. Interment was made at Mercersburg. He leaves a wife and six children, a son, John B. Zimmerman, residing in Gettysburg.

The largest source of revenue came from cigars and cigarettes, $207,620.53, and beer brought in $120,035. The spirit licenses in the district amounted to $40,681.41, and tobacco licenses amounted to $26,922.66.

Ought to Paint

I ought to have painted last year, but I hated to pay $2 a gallon. I've got to paint this year; I'll take a little more paint; I suppose 1 gallon in 10; and a little more work. I suppose 1 day in 10.

My job would have cost last year about $50; it is going to cost this year $55.

$5 more. I suppose I'll be the same again, if I wait again.

What if paint goes down to $1.75 a gallon? $2.50 on the job?

I shan't wait; what a fool I was!

ECKERT'S STORE, "ON THE SQUARE"$950*Electric Light and Self Starter*$1075Overland*

TOO many people are fooled or misled by taking bare automobile prices as a positive indication of the intrinsic value of a car. This is exactly the wrong way to go about it. Because one article is priced higher than another it does not follow that that article has a greater value.

Take two cars practically identical. The one the $950 Overland. The other is the average similar car—priced at $1200—which offers no greater value.

As a matter of fact there are any number of $1200 cars which are not, in value, the equal of the $950 Overland.

But how are we to know this?—you ask.

That's simple. Ask some real questions; find out some actual facts: make some specification comparisons—and then it is the easiest thing in the world to sum up the intrinsic value of any car made.

For instance:

The $950 Overland has a wheel base of 114 inches.

The wheel base of the average $1200 car is no longer than this—often shorter. So in this respect you get more for $950 than you do for $1200.

The $950 Overland has a powerful 35 horsepower motor.

No $1200 car has a larger motor than this. Here is equal value and, in most cases, more value for less money.

The $950 Overland tires are 35 inches x 4 inches—all around.

No $1200 car has larger tires. Again—equal value—our price $250 less.

The $950 Overland has a complete set of electric lights—throughout—the same as on most $1200 cars. Some out-of-date cars still cling to the obsolete gas lamps. In the first instance the $950 electrically lighted. Overland is the value equal of the $1200 car, and in the second instance has more value than the $1200 (gas lamp) car. In either case our price is $250 less.

Next comes the matter of equipment. The $950 Overland is complete ---a jeweled speedometer, top, curtains boot, windshield, electric horn—everything complete. No $1200 car made has more complete or better equipment.

And so on throughout the car. Point for point—specification for specification, the $950 Overland is, in every essential respect, the equal of any $1200 car on the market.

So we warn you. Ignore the prices. Compare the actual facts first. Then compare the facts with the prices and you get the intrinsic value.

We are making 50,000 cars this year—the largest production of its kind in the world. And every Overland purchaser will save at least 30 per cent. and get a superior car.

See the Overland dealer in your town today. Then see any competing car. Make the comparisons we suggest. Then you will better realize how hard a comparison of this kind is, on any other car costing in the neighborhood of $1200.

Phone our dealer for an appointment, while the matter is fresh in your mind.

12 Federal Reserve Banks.

The Federal Reserve Bank Organization Committee after visiting 18 cities, listening to arguments from representatives of 200 cities and selecting 12 cities from among 37 which sought reserve banks announced their decision last week, dividing the country into 12 banking districts and the location of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks under the new banking and currency law.

The factors determining the selection were the following:

Ability of member banks within a district to furnish the necessary $4,000,000 capital for the reserve bank.

Mercantile, industrial and financial connections in each district and the relations between various portions and a reserve city.

Probable ability of a Federal reserve bank to meet the legitimate demands of business, "whether normal or abnormal."

Equitable division of available capital among all districts.

General geographical situation of each district, transportation lines and facilities for speedy communication in it.

Population, area and prevalent business activities of the district.

The regional bank cities, which will be the Federal reserve centers for each region, are: Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Dallas, Minneapolis, Kansas City, and San Francisco.

Adams county will be in the Third District, all of the State east of the western boundary of counties of McKean, Elk, Clearfield, Cambria and Bedford being in the Third District with New Jersey and Delaware. The western part of State will be in the Fourth District.

Formal certification of the selection of districts has been made by the Federal Reserve Bank Organization Committee to the Comptroller of the Treasury.

Next will come the notification of the banks entering the system of the plans for the districts.

Within 30 days after the receipt of such notice by the banks they must begin payment for their stock in the reserve banks in their respective districts, each bank subscribing 6 per cent. of its combined capital and surplus.

Payments for subscriptions will spread over many months.

Meanwhile President Wilson will announce the five members of the Federal Reserve Board, positions with salaries of $12,000.

Gen. Wotherspoon Chief of Staff.

The appointment of Major General William W. Wotherspoon to be chief of staff of the army, succeeding Major General Leonard Wood, whose four year term expires on April 21, has been announced by Secretary of War Garrison.

Gen. Wotherspoon has many friends in Gettysburg who rejoice at his advancement. Gen. Wotherspoon was in command of the great military camp that encamped east of town several years ago.

Gen. Wotherspoon is now assistant chief of staff, and he will be succeeded by Brigadier General Hugh L. Scott, now commanding the United States troops at El Paso and on the Texas border.

General Wotherspoon, however, is due to retire from active service because of age on Nov. 1, 1914. He will thus have but seven months to serve as chief of staff, when it will be necessary for Mr. Garrison to make another appointment. According to reports generally credited in Washington Gen. Scott is to succeed Gen. Wotherspoon as soon as that officer retires, while Gen. Bliss, now at San Antonio, it is said, would be brought to Washington as assistant chief of staff.

Can Carry Road Supervisors.

Hereafter road commissioners will be accorded the privilege of riding with rural carriers for inspection of roads. The new rule was announced in the January supplement to the Postal Guide and is as follows:

"Postmasters at rural delivery offices are instructed to permit road supervisors or commissioners having direct charge of the highways over which rural delivery routes are in operation to ride over the routes with rural carriers when such road officials are actually engaged in the performance of their duties in connection with the inspection of the roads."

The new rule will be of great advantage especially to county superintendents of roads who will be able to inspect many miles of roads daily without going to the expense of horse or auto hire.

York Post-Office Situation.

The complications over the appointment of a postmaster at York have been concluded as far as State Senator Henry Washers is concerned by the withdrawal of his name. No other name has as yet been sent by the President to the U. S. Senate. Senator Washers in withdrawing his name sent the following letter to Congressman Brodbeck:

Dear Sir:—The deadlock in the matter of the York postoffice has been so prolonged and the end is still so far remote that I feel it should be ended by such means as I have at hand.

As you know, I was not at any time a formal applicant for the appointment of postmaster at York and only allowed my name to be used in this connection when it was urged upon me that such action would help to straighten out the tangle produced by the large number of active candidates with conflicting interests. My plans had been made to seek renomination and reelection to the State Senate, but upon such a presentation of the case to me, and solely because I believed that by so acting I might be of aid to you and at the same time help to strengthen the party in York county, I allowed my recommendation to go forward.

I have never for a moment doubted your sincerity or earnestness in the matter, but obstacles have been piled up in your path resulting in delay. I am convinced that my further continuation in the field will not be that aid to you and the party I had anticipated, so I have concluded to return to the senatorial contest, which has always been more to my liking than the postmastership. The time for filing nomination papers for the senatorship is drawing to a close, and as I wish to devote my attention to this matter, I respectfully request you without delay to withdraw my recommendation for postmaster of York.

I take this action fully appreciating your honorable course in the transaction, which has increased my esteem for you, but I feel that it is for the best and trust you will so view it.

With best wishes for your welfare and success in the future, I remain, Yours very truly,

H. WASBERS.

The York "Gazette," commenting on Washers' withdrawal, said:

It is a matter of profound regret that circumstances which preclude his nomination as postmaster of this city, circumstances which, of course, he made no effort to combat, resulted in Senator Henry Washers withdrawing his name as a candidate for the office. The senator reached this decision after it became evident that influences which were at work to prevent his nomination by President Wilson, were able to have Congressman Brodbeck's recommendation held up. This was accomplished by men who were advancing the cause of other applicants for the postmastership.

THE THIN AND WEAK

Easy Way for Them to Get Strong and Fat.

To thin and weak Peoples Drug Store has a word to say. Let them use Samose, the wonderful flesh-forming food, that is now so popular, and they will soon be plump and rosy.

Samose is not an ordinary medicine; it is a flesh-forming food that is adapted to the most delicate. Its tonic effect gives strength and health so that after its use for a short time, all the flesh and fat producing elements in the food will be easily assimilated and retained by the body.

The large sale Peoples Drug Store has had on Samose since they first introduced it in Gettysburg and the wonderful results following its use have made them such enthusiastic believers in its great merits, that, they give their personal guarantee to refund the money if Samose does not make thin people fat and restore strength and health.

When again in weight is noticed after Samose has been used for a week or ten days, and health has improved, and you notice yourself growing stronger, you certainly should feel more than satisfied with what you have received from the small cost of 50c.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Arendtsville For New School Bldg.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association was held last Friday night in the school building. The house was crowded, and the meeting proved very interesting. Much of this interest was due to the presence of a number of public spirited men and women from Gettysburg. Those who took part in the discussions were Mrs. Wm. Arch. McClean, President of the Gettysburg Association, Wm. Arch. McClean, Robert C. Miller, Mrs. Robert C. Miller, George W. Baker and Mrs. Withrow. Prof. Ira C. Lady of West Chester, gave an interesting address. Miss Helen Eicholtz recited, and the town Glee Club rendered several selections of music. We feel indebted to our Gettysburg friends for the interest they have aroused among our people, and look forward to visits from them in the future. No better expression of the interest of our people in education could be found than the results of Saturday's vote on the plan bill for the erection of a new school building; the vote being 75 for and 8 against.

If you have a property to sell it will pay you to list it with us. We will submit it to many prospective buyers while you are finding one. It does not matter if you have a high priced property or a low priced one. Mrs. De Vote No Longer Attempts to Make Her Family Eat Hygienically.

"I did not see you at the domestic science lecture yesterday," said Mrs. Twinkler.

"No," answered Mrs. De Vote. "There is no use in my studying domestic science."

"Why not? They tell you just what foods are to be fed to children to make them grow in a healthful manner and develop properly."

"My children don't want to hear about foods that are good for them. Neither does my husband. I don't dare tell them that a certain food is good for them. They will never touch it if I do. They think it in the medicine class."

"I used to feed them rice. Rice, as I learned when I attended the lectures, is rich in protein, and the body requires a certain amount of protein."

"I explained it all to my husband and the boys and that settled the rice question forever. They said they didn't care for drugs with their meals. They said they ate for the fun of the thing; not for their health."

"They made all sorts of fun of me. Mr. De Vote would say: 'Have some potatoes, boys, and the boys would respond. 'Siderack 'em, dad.'"

"It was the same with albuminous foods. They wouldn't eat eggs. They said they didn't care for albumen. I quit just in time or they would have abandoned their cereal in the morning."

"Some people want to be ill, anyway. It would be a deprivation to them not to be ill. Suppose old Uncle Witterkop should cure himself of all his ailments by eating proper foods. What a lot of good fun he would miss!"

"Uncle Witterkop likes to take medicine. He can have more fun with such symptoms as he can extract than he can with a Japanese puzzle or a chemical experiment. It is science, philosophy and mental exercise to him to find out his symptoms. They are his companions morning, noon and night."

"When he discovers a new symptom he feels that life is worth living. He hurries to the medicine chest with an elastic step. He is anxious to see what his favorite remedy will do to that new symptom. If the remedy wins he smiles with delight. If the symptom wins he rubs his hands. It is a splendid game."

"It would be a shame to feed Uncle Witterkop properly and thus deprive him of all that sport."

"So I have decided to drop the lectures and let things take their course."

Lean Men.

A prominent Methodist bishop is quoted as having warned the people of a certain congregation against putting their trust in lean men. The lean man, he says, "takes himself too seriously, is inclined to be hypercritical and to regard himself self-appointed inspector of the universe."

The good bishop draws conclusions too sweepingly. There are lean men and lean men, some lean, perhaps, through meanness, others through hereditary or chronic illness. We protest against the generalization that because a man's waistline is scant his character is warped. The old dictum that "nobody loves a fat man" should not be reversed so abruptly, as if there was nothing to be said on the other side.

Girth, like a bald head, is but a poor index of what is in the heart. One greatly fears that the bishop is a round gentleman who falls into the quite natural error of believing that some necessary relationship exists between his own physical proportions and his own undoubted qualities of grace. It has always been hard for a crosserred man to understand that any beauty or virtue attached to eyes that were straight.

Japanese Superstition.

If a guest leaves a Japanese hotel without paying his bill a broom is dressed up, his name is attached to it, and it is inverted as a sign of disrespect. W. L. Hildburgh said in a lecture on Japanese popular-magic before the Japan society, a London correspondent of the New York Sun writes.

Complaint, he added, is then made to the figure, and it is ordered to bring the money next day. Farmers heat beans to find out what the weather is going to be, and sacrifice a black horse if they want rain. Paper amulets are used during thunderstorms and sheep-spirits at the end of each year conduct demon dispelling ceremonies.

To avoid litigation the person who fears it bathes in the twilight on the fourth day of the fourth month. In villages wells are covered over during eclipses of the moon, as the people believe that poison drops from the sky at that time.

Billiards Extraordinary.

Harris Norton Lyon, the author, has a number of gross and earthy friends. He says that the other day two of them began to play billiards. As drouth overtook them they took the necessary steps. Toward evening one of them closed one eye and looked at the clock. Then he left to telephone his wife. The other remained stolidly to pursue the balls about the table. After 15 minutes the first returned.

"How—hic—many you made?" he asked.

"Ain' made none," said the other, drazily.

"What?" demanded the first friend. "You been shootin' all this time and ain' made none?"

"Tesh," said the other, with some irritation. "I ain' made none. An' I amee tell you, I been shootin' for you, too and you ain' made none either!"

SQUIRE HAD SIZED HIS MAN

Pompous Lawyer Got Little the Better of Interview With Keen Old Justice.

To a certain southern town, on legal business, came a most pompous young lawyer, who, notwithstanding his name was McNaught, had an excellent opinion of himself. He found it necessary to talk with Squire Gardner, an unpolished justice, who had no good opinion of anything, and especially of anyone who had a good opinion of himself. The squire had never heard of his visitor till he called and he was a poor hand at remembering names, but he was an expert in human measurements.

The young lawyer proceeded promptly to say what he had to say, the squire listening, but watching. Presently he thought it was time for him to say something.

"Hold on, Mr. McCipher," he began. "My name is McNaught," the lawyer stiffly corrected him.

"Excuse me, excuse me," apologized the squire, and finished his remarks.

It was not long before the squire again felt called upon to speak.

"Well, now, Mr. McZero—" he started in.

"I said my name was McNaught," the lawyer interrupted, sharply.

Again the squire apologized, doing so profusely, and the lawyer concluded his consultation. He was not feeling very kindly towards the squire, but he thought it wise not to manifest his feelings, and said good-bye with a fair degree of politeness.

"Good-bye, Mr. McNothing," said the squire, as innocent as a lamb, and as the visitor walked pompously out of the office the squire chuckled.

Transforming Trouble.

An artist once painted a lovely picture, but just as he finished it he managed by some mishap to get several blots in the sky. To rub these out without spoiling the whole picture was impossible. What did he do? Possibly you may think that he began to tear his hair and fume. Not at all. He quietly took his pencil and turned the blots into birds. To each blot he gave a beak and a pair of wings—and lo, it was a bird!

A glorious way of dealing with troubles. Make them into birds, and get them wings, and then they may even fly away and leave you.

Halters for Cromwell.

The Massachusetts statue of Cromwell, which it is proposed to remove from its present site, is one of three of the Lord Protector in England, the others being the one outside Westminster hall and the one in the marketplace of St. Ives, Hunts.

At the unveiling ceremony of this last some 12 years ago it was found that beneath the veiling some local Jacobites had deposited halters with inscriptions in anything but loving memory, ropes with suggestive dedications, and gunpowder.

Another "R" in the School.

Reading, 'riting and 'vidimetic, the "three R's" of the schoolma'am in the little old red schoolhouse on the hill, may have to make room for another "R"—roads.

The Iowa state highway commission is of the opinion that the child mind is a good place to start "good roads," just as good as it is to begin the multiplication table, the first reader and how to write.

The highway commission and the state superintendent of public instruction, A. M. Degee, are co-operating in the working out of a plan to use the rural consolidated school houses in the state to disseminate good roads gospel to the fathers and mothers.

Montessori Idea.

Two articles on the Montessori method give especial interest to the current (March) number of THE PSYCHOLOGICAL CLINIC. The first is by Dr. Lightner Witmer, Director of the Psychological Laboratory and Clinic of the University of Pennsylvania. "Montessori is the first to do—and with striking success—what others have only talked about," says Dr. Witmer, and has given the world "the first convincing demonstration that methods which are successful in developing the mental capacities of feeble-minded children are even more successful in developing the mental powers of normal children." After speaking of the work done in the Casa dei Bambini in Rome, which he visited in 1912, and comparing it with our kindergarten, Dr. Witmer concludes, "I would distinguish between the Montessori idea and the Montessori system. The Montessori idea is a group of scientific principles put together by an enthusiastic student of modern psychology. . . . The Montessori system comprises a set of apparatus and definite methods of procedure. . . . I do not believe Dr. Montessori wants us to understand that her system is now a closed one. To my mind it is not the least valuable feature of her system, that it will never be closed, but will always develop as our knowledge of the child develops." The article will be continued in the April number.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
